Germans from Russia Humor

by Clyde Eisenbeis

Two elderly men went to a funeral. After the gravesite burial, they were in the church basement eating kucha. Robert asked Fritz how old he was. Fritz replied, “85”. Fritz asked Robert the same question. Robert replied, “95”. Fritz said, “95! It hardly pays to go home!!!”

A traveling pastor stopped at a small rural church. He had heard that they have no pastor. After the sermon, he passed his hat around for an offering. The hat came back empty. As they are driving away, he told his wife, “Did you see that? Not even a dime!” His wife responded, “You were lucky to get your hat back!!!”
